MedicAlert ID bracelets, necklaces and watches are worn on pulse points. They carry the international medical symbol and are an effective way to communicate vital details in an emergency situation.

MedicAlert provides a service which gives our members the confidence to live life without limits.

The MedicAlert Foundation supports people with a diverse range of hidden medical conditions. Our emblem AND service gives them the confidence and peace of mind that in an emergency, their medical conditions, allergies, next of kin details and advance decisions will be known to medical professionals.

MedicAlert are the only identification organisation which:

- Has a 24/7 emergency phone line
- Stores additional medical details and information
- Has medically trained nurses who review and prioritise all member's information
- Has an ongoing training & education programme for medical professionals

Please help us to spread the word!

As a charity we rely on your support to increase awareness of MedicAlert.

- Tell your patients how MedicAlert can support them in an emergency
- Stock our leaflets and posters in your treatment rooms or reception. The leaflet has all the information a patient needs to become a member

1. Check Patient

Check all patients for a MedicAlert® emblem. This will most often be found near their pulse point (wrist or neck). There are a range of styles and they all clearly display the international medical symbol on the front.

2. Read Emblem

If you find an emblem, turn it over to read the medical information on the reverse. This is where the member's most critical medical conditions are engraved.

3. Call Our 24/7 Emergency Support

Every emblem has our 24/7 emergency response telephone number (+44 (0)20 7407 2818), and the personal membership number for the patient. This provides instant access to additional medical and personal information.
